Carmel Hill Road to Be Improved

That part of the highway between Carmel and Monterey known as Carmel Hill is to be entirely rebuilt. This important announcement comes from Supervisor J. L. D. Roberts, who has had tentative plans prepared for the work.

Owing to the tremendously increased traffic over this stretch of highway the proposed work is absolutely necessary. It is probable that the plans and specifications will call not only for a complete new surface, but for widening and a reduction of grade in several places.

No information has been given as to the type of pavement to be put down, whether concrete or asphalt, but motorists are on record as favoring unsurfaced concrete, such as we have on Ocean avenue.

The new construction, which will cover a stretch from the Monterey city limits to the toll gate on the top of the hill, will begin shortly.

While the road is under construction by-passes will be provided for motorists and others.

Oriental Music for Persian Play

By Jeanne D'Orge

To give a play its proper musical setting is always a delicate, difficult achievement—one of those last fine touches which subtly change and transfigure the picture as a whole. Music in a play, and especially one like "Kismet," is an accompaniment; the dramatic action is the singer who must be followed through every swiftly changing mood unhesitatingly, with unerring understanding.

Our Forest Theatre is fortunate in having Thomas Vincent Cator as the musical director for "Kismet." Mr. Cator is not only a fine composer and musician, but an almost too loyal Carmelite. He is always willing to give time and labor to the community, frequently at the expense of his own work. In the present instance he is engaged in putting on the finishing touches to his light opera, "The Beggar of Bagdad," to be produced shortly in San Francisco.

Still he has found time to assemble and rehearse an orchestra for the music of "Kismet." The fact that Mr. Cator has for the past year or so been composing oriental music is just another of those magical coincidences that match with the action of the play.

All who saw "The Yellow Jacket" will remember the charming effect of the Cator music, and the equally charming, although different, setting he gave to the Dunsany plays, most of which our Tom wrote himself.

This year, at the earnest request of many Carmelites, we are to be allowed to use some of the music of "The Beggar from Bagdad"—The Prelude at Dawn and Fragrance.

Mrs. Mabel Kegg, who sang so delightfully in the recent marionette show, will sing another number from the opera, "Wings of the Morning." The festival scene from Rimsky-Karsakoff's Scheherazade music is also to be used; also real Arabian melodies, strange and weird as the desert from which they come. Mr. Cator will play the piano and the Arabian oboe; Mrs. James Harper of Pacific Grove, violin; Verner Stalter, flute; Sergeant Ernest Clapp, of Monterey Presidio, tromboue, and Sergeant George Wurst, kettle-drums.

Church Dedication Sunday Morning

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the new rooms of the Carmel church will be dedicated. The addition, constructed by M. J. Murphy, is twenty by fifty feet with basement. The upper section will contain a kindergarten room, kitchenette, and several Sunday school rooms. The basement will be used for recreational and boys' and girls' club work.

New pews will be placed in the church room, leaving the present chairs for the new addition. There will also be new chairs for the choir. Under the whole plant there will be a furnace.

The entire cost of the addition will be about thirty-seven hundred dollars. The finances are in excellent condition. Over twenty-seven hundred dollars were provided without personal solicitation.

Bishop A. W. Leonard, D. D., L. L. D., will preach the morning sermon and dedicate the building. The Bishop is known far and wide as one of the most forceful and eloquent preachers on the coast. It will be a rare treat to hear him.

Dr. E. A. Sturge, who is superintendent of the Sunday school, will make the presentation address.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend these services.

Garnet Holme to Have Valuable Help

Ben Weed to Help Garnet Holme

Sixteen years ago Ben Weed, then a Sonoma school principal, produced a Grecian play. It is remembered as one of the best things ever done, histrionically speaking, in all the Valley of the Moon.

Ben Weed is a San Francisco pedagogue now, but he retains a warm spot in his heart for Sonoma. Also, he is an old friend of Garnet Holme, author of "The Mission Play of Sonoma," which is to be given five presentations in the Sonoma Centennial celebration, June 30 (today) to July 4.

Holme has persuaded Wood to reproduce a fragment of his Grecian play as one of the memories of the moon in the final episode of his Mission play.

Weed is an honorary member of the pageant committee and has been helping his old fellow townsmen in an advisory capacity. There is no better authority on the folklore of Sonoma valley.

Kuster Projects Taking Form

With the construction of the studio-shop leased to the Seven Arts already under way, completion of the first unit of the group of buildings to surround the Carmel Theatre at Ocean avenue and Monte Verde street is assured by August 1st. M. J. Murphy is the builder.

The second unit will be the studio of the Carmel Weavers, which will shortly be removed from its present location to the theatre grounds, where it will be enlarged and substantially improved. This contract has been awarded to L. E. Gottfried.

Construction of additional studio-shops on the Ocean avenue frontage of the the theatre property will follow shortly. Except for excavation, work on the theatre itself will not be commenced until fall.

A substantial addition to the Kuster properties at this valuable corner is the adjoining Grieves property, just purchased, which brings the total frontage on Monte Verde street to 160 feet.

The studio apartments will be grouped on either side of a garden lane the length of the property, this lane to be terraced with the natural slope of the land. Trees will be saved wherever possible.

City Fathers Special Session

Because of failure to meet the legal requirements as to the posting of notices concerning the improvement of one block of Dolores street, the city trustees at an adjourned meeting last Friday rescinded their former resolution of intention and fixed Tuesday, July 10th, as the date for hearing objections to the work.

There was some discussion of the proposed traffic ordinance. No definite action was taken.

City Attorney Argyll Campbell was directed to apply to the court for distribution of the bequest of Mrs. Ella Reid Harrison. In the matter of the library location there has developed a considerable opposition to building on block 69, owned by the city. It is felt that Mrs. Harrison's wishes as to location should be respected and carried out, and to do this and at the same time provide a maintenance fund a special library tax is proposed.

The board being advised that property now owned by the city had been advertised for sale by the county for prior delinquent taxes, voted $200 and placed this sum at the disposal of the president of the board to clear the property in question. An additional $75 was voted to City Attorney Campbell towards the expenses in a proposed mandamus action against the tax collector of Carmel to compel the delivery of deeds to property purchased at the delinquent sale in local improvement district number one.

The board discussed the proposition of improving all streets running east and west in the part of the town bounded by Ocean avenue, Santa Lucia avenue, San Carlos street and Carmel Bay and installing a surface drainage system in this district.

Colonel and Mrs. John M. Jenkins, who are leaving tomorrow for their new post in the Presidio of San Francisco, have been very much entertained for the past several weeks. Colonel and Mrs. Jenkins have a host of friends in Monterey, Carmel and Pebble Beach, as well as in the Presidio, who will regret very much to see them leave.

All in Readiness for Annual Play

The largest advance sale in the fourteen years of the Forest Theatre's history is reported for the production of "Kismet," which will open next Monday evening, and indications are for a record-breaking first night audience. The sale for Tuesday and Wednesday evening is also large, orders for seats coming in with every mail from all sections of the state.

With the drawing near of the opening night, activities at the theatre have trebeled and quadrupled. Dr. Burton and his staff of assistants are on the job early and late. Rhoda Johnson and Helena Conger, costume mistresses, are so busy that they are passing up their home duties. Miss Anson, "Props" of the production, seldom leaves her eyrie in the shadow of the minuret. Karl Cherry, Jack-of-all-jobs and actor as well, has just about all he can do. George Kegg builds and paints scenes all day and acts all night. Ann Martin and Caroline devote nearly all their waking hours to getting Paul Mays' Persian curtains in shape. Austin James, Daniel Willard and Arthur Vachell are putting the finishing touches to the stage. Amidst all the clatter Tom Cator and his orchestra serenely rehearse the music for the production, Hobart Glassell practices make-up, and Joan Williams dances to the accompaniment of hammer and saw.

The spirit of cooperation is little less than amazing. Everyone is a worker or an actor.

The final rehearsals will be held tonight and tomorrow night.

See the play!

Rodeo-Big Week at County Seat

Salinas is getting ready for her annual Big Week. This annual California Rodeo will be ready to start off with a bang on Wednesday, July 18, and continue five days. Reports submitted by sub-committee chairmen show that arrangements are progressing satisfactorily and that the program for the week's festivities is rapidly taking shape.

Aside from this, indications are the crowds this year will be much greater than ever before in the history of the big round-up. As there will be some 200 officers and 6000 soldiers at the National Guard encampment, the committees on entertainment and reception are going to work out some plan to handle them without congesting the stands and grounds.

Governor Richardson is to be invited on the opening day, and a review of the National Guard may be held as part of the festivities.

In order that there will be plenty of entertainment during the week, permission was granted both the American Legion and the Civic Club to hold dances during the week.

The historical pageant, staged some time ago here by the Playcrafters, called "The Footsteps of Four Nations," will also be one of the attractions. Communities of four counties will take part. It will be staged on Thursday evenings in the open court of the Salinas union high school.

The committee in charge is on record for cleaner and better concessions than have been given the public heretofore, and to this end a contract was made with the Burke & Foley shows, consisting mainly of animal shows and other clean exhibits.

Tilly Polak is home from abroad. She breezed into town Tuesday evening full of life and pep, happy, glad to be back. She will shortly open her studio on Ocean avenue.

R. C. DeYoe of the Carmel Realty Co. reports the following recent sales: To A. L. King of San Francisco, the Garland lot on Eleventh avenue; to Mrs. Allen C. Wood of Oakland, the former Cobbe bungalow on Eighth avenue; to Mrs. C. H. Blackman, a lot on San Antonio; to Charles S. Hoehn, a lot on Dolores street.

Byington Ford of Pebble Beach entertained at dinner at La Playa last Saturday evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Glassell, Miss Margaret and Elizabeth Howard, Katherine Robinson and Willette Allen, Messrs. Morrison and Frederick Harrison, Pardow Hooper and Curtis Hutton.

The Versatile Keggs

George Kegg of San Francisco, whose life work is painting and etching, has nevertheless been on and off the stage ever since as a boy he tooted a horn with the circus. He carried a spear for Mansfield, acted with the Lyceum Stock Company of Minneapolis, barnstormed all over the Middle West, and in the intervals studied art and punched cattle in Arizona.

In carving out Fannie Goldsmith's dreams of marionettes he grew to love the puppets so that he could not bear the thought of their being played by alien hands, and so was formed the Kegg-Goldsmith Marionette troupe which recently delighted us in Cinderella. His puppets are done with perfect anatomical correctness and are pronounced by Ellen Van Volkenberg, who introduced marionettes in this country, to be the very best puppets ever made. Mr. Kegg is one of the most versatile of all the many extraordinary people who come to Carmel, and he is using almost all of his gifts in the service of the Forest Theater.

Duo Art Concert Charming Affair

By Thomas Vincent Cator

Serge Halman of Sherman, Clay & Co. gave a Duo Art recital last Friday evening at Arts and Crafts Hall here which attracted a good-sized audience.

The Duo Art is a reproducing piano of wonderful achievements, especially in the matter of phrasing. In this it is quite accurate, and in weaving a melody, as well as in the matter of dynamics, is more interesting than the non-reproducing player-piano.

For a person to whom a mechanical instrument has an appeal, I should say that the Duo Art is a medium of expression which might afford them much enjoyment, and that it is instructive and of great value in stimulating musical appreciation is not be doubted.

Of the piano numbers, I enjoyed most the Suite Valse by Arensky, played by Bauer and Gabrilowitch, and the Reverie by Granados. The Tschaikowsky Concerto also made an appeal, particularly through the playing of Elsie Cook Hughes on a second Steinway piano.

But the possibilities of the reproducing piano as an accompanying instrument were naturally what most impressed a Carmel audience, and in this Mr. Halman gave us a demonstration which bordered close to the artistic and was indeed surprisingly effective.

Roberta Armant Leitch was the very delightful singer, and that she charmed her audience was amply evidenced by the hearty applause she received.

Edward G. Kuster played as a solo for violonsello, accompanied by Duo Art, Schmann's Traumeri. Mr. Kuster plays with much taste. His tone is good to hear and his intonation very perfect. The instrument he plays is one of the best in tone quality that I have had the pleasure of hearing.

The firm of Sherman, Clay & Co. deserve credit for the manner in which this recital was conducted and for the very elaborate programs, which were quite Carmelian.

Seven Arts Studio to Move Down Town

The Seven Arts, Herbert Heron's studio-shop in the Eighty Acres, will soon be located on Ocean avenue, and will thenceforward be under the joint ownership of Mr. Heron and Miss Helena Conger.

Work is being started on a building to be erected by Edward G. Kuster on the property opposite Pine Inn recently acquired by him. In August the Seven Arts will be serving the public in one of the most interesting places in Carmel—a charming new building devoted wholly to the seven arts, with unique shops and studios planned by Mr. Kuster on either side and the new theatre just across the court.

Pine Cone Blushes

Pine Cone's Special Edition Creditable One

The Annual Forest Theatre Number of the Carmel Weekly Pine Cone, William Overstreet editor and publisher, has reached the editorial rooms of The Herald. The number is a most creditable one of 16 pages, printed on splendid paper. The typographical work on the edition is in keeping with the high standard set by Mr. Overstreet for his publication—year in and year out. The news columns are filled with interesting matter relative to the forthcoming production of "Kismet," the Forest Theater Society's selection for this year's presentation.

The edition is to be given widespread circulation, through the co-ordinated effort of the Forest Theater Society and Monterey Peninsula Inc.

Mr. Overstreet is to be congratulated upon the showing made, and the interested organizations upon the excellence of the publicity thus to be obtained.

Valued Criticism From Veteran of Graphic Arts

W. L. Overstreet and Associates,
The Pine Cone,
Carmel, California.

Dear Sirs: I thank you most sincerely for sending me copy of The Pine Cone dated Saturday, June 23.

Many people have the ability to put on paper lots of language, and make it talk beautifully, and mean nothing.

I will try the other way, and say what I mean, and mean what I say.

Your special edition for "Kismet" and the Forest Theater is a little gem, conceived and designed without mental strabismus, printed on white paper with real black ink that makes reading easy, and the completed work carries a pleasing atmosphere of knowing what you wanted, how to get it, and then doing it.

Sincerely,
JOHN S. PINNEY,

Humane Society Uses Cat Trap

The Humane Society of Carmel has had a cat trap made which captures without hurting the animal. This is to be used by the society for eliminating only such starving, sick or injured cats as might be a menace to the community. In the event of a pet cat being caught the society will immediately release it.

Private persons, adults only, who are known to be responsible, may rent this trap for a small sum, with the permission of an officer of the Society and to be used only on their own property. Cats caught in this way may be turned over to the society, but it must be very definitely understood that the society will not be held responsible for pets that might accidentally be caught. It is incumbent, however, on the person renting the trap to do all in his or her power to co-operate with the society and return puss to his owner.

Stray cats, so caught, are kept a reasonable time, and if found desirable, are placed in good homes; otherwise they are painlessly destroyed.

CONCERT

Carmel will probably have an opportunity this summer to hear the noted trio headed by Alexander Saslavsky, for many years concert master and solo violinist of the New York Symphony, and now in San Francisco. Edward G. Kinster left for that city Thursday to arrange for a series of recitals by the Saslavsky organization.

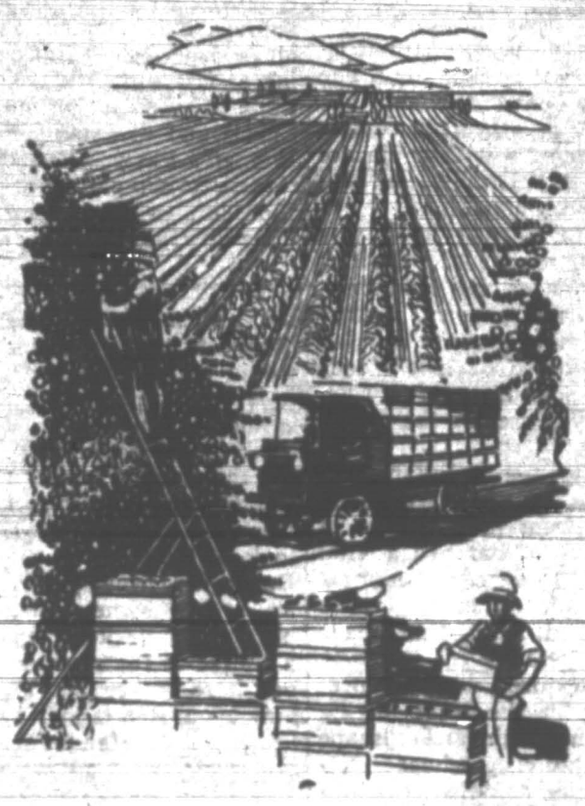
Linking with the resources of the great San Joaquin Valley



A Valley that can be compared in richness only with Nile Delta is directly over the Coast Range to the east. For greatest progress, the Peninsula needs the backing of this great agricultural region.

Monterey, the natural seaport for the great San Joaquin Valley, has joined hands, financially, with that great inland empire. A step has been taken toward fulfillment of the dream of alliance between the "Garden of the Sun" and its nearest seaport. Some day a railroad from the Valley will carry its products direct to Monterey ships.

But now Monterey has become a concentration point for the resources of the great Valley. The Bank of Monterey has united with The Valley Bank, and, taking the name of that institution, is giving to the Peninsula better service, wider banking facilities, and greater financial aid.

The Valley Bank of Monterey, with over $13,000,000 resources behind it, would like you to join them, for mutual benefit and for the progress and prosperity of the community.

Ideal Home Sites in Carmel Woods

There is probably no one bit of all California's enchantment so intriguing and alluring, that so winds itself into the casual visitor's memories with a personal appeal as Carmel-by-the-Sea. Its stretch of wooded slopes fringed by the spraying surf of the mighty Pacific are dowered by all of Nature's loveliness from the rare shaggy cypress to the carpet of exquisite wild flowers that stretch over the sand dunes themselves and blossom to the very edge of a myriad little coves.

From the early days of the intrepid Serra, Carmel has been steeped in Romance, interpreted by poet, pictured by artist and dramatized by novelist. The colony has grown until Carmel has come to spell Art in all its creative sense curiously blended with a sincere and permanent affection which can only exist co-incident with home-fires.

For a long time Carmel itself was jealously guarded, confined to the few original discoverers of its loveliness, and rarely did Carmel property change hands. It is only now that the opening of a new subdivision in Carmel Woods has brought the possibility of a Carmel home to every seeker of the charm that lies there.

While expanding the boundaries of Carmel-by-the-Sea, Carmel Woods in no way detracts from the features of seclusion and privacy that are a vital part of Carmel's allurement. Carmel Woods has broad, winding roads through its forested acres that make every home-site accessible yet secluded. Here indeed are Nature's contours preserved. The fact of the tract having been laid out by that eminent landscape engineer, Mark Daniels, whose outstanding California achievements include Forest Hill in San Francisco, Thousand Oaks in Berkeley and Pebble Beach, is in itself a guarantee of the beauty to be found and preserved in the new area.

All of the roads are surfaced and graveled and radiate from a focal point in the Woods which has been named Serra Circle in honor of Carmel's great patron.

Electricity and abundant water are brought to every lot.

Building restrictions of a protective nature to every resident have been made a part of purchase contracts. The wishes of the city trustees and planning commission were made in sympathy therewith.

So far, the policy of the Company has been to place Carmel Woods within the reach of all in the matter of price. Individual lots are offered for as little as $350.

The demand for these peculiarly attractive sites and the fact that there is now little more to be opened up would indicate that the homesites in the new area will be eagerly grasped by the many who are yearly attracted by the natural beauty, the superb climate and the atmosphere of culture of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Dr. Alice Hamilton, for many years resident at Hull House, Jane Addams' famous social settlement in Chicago, was guest over Sunday at the home of Mrs. Meade Williams, Twelfth and Dolores. Dr. Hamilton, who is a recognized expert on industrial diseases, has the distinction of being the only woman on the faculty of the Harvard Medical School. She is in California investigating mine and factory conditions. She will return for the July play.

MR. JOHN STEVEN McGROARTY'S REVIEW OF VAN HOUTTE BOOK

The reading of "The Bells of El Carmelo" was very interesting to me. Mr. Van Houtte has placed his interesting story in a setting truly Californian.

He dexterously weaves poetry, the history of the state, the atmosphere of Mission days, and the customs of California, under three flags with a modern romance.

The characterization is splendid and the philosophy elevating—another good book on the California shelf.

JOHN STEVEN McGROARTY,
Author, Poet, Dramatist.

Author of "California, Its History and Romance," and "The Mission Play."

Incident to Kismet

Kismet Throat Drops, served on lumps of sugar, are the solace of weary voices half way through rehearsal. "Kafur" Bickle, Mansur's swordsman, when he lays aside his sword and his severity and returns to private life and the dispensing of drugs, is the compounder of this soothing mixture.

There are dramatic moments on the Forest Theater stage which the author of Kismet is not responsible for. It never occurred to him to put two feminists in Mansur's harem, but on Sunday afternoon Dr. Alice Hamilton, government expert on industrial diseases, and Anne Martin sat among the poetic blue draperies recalling their last meeting at Carnegie Hall, New York, at the time of the presentation to Madame Currie and discussing the future of the Women's Party. Then Miss Martin returned to her paint pots and Dr. Hamilton left to investigate factory conditions in Oakland.

To sit on a hard wooden bench at the Forest Theater all day and until twelve at night might be fatiguing, but would certainly be interesting. In fact it is only by staying there that one would be sure of missing nothing. Where else could you be sure of seeing the meeting between Dr. Burton and Dr. Henry L. Talbot, his successor as Dean of Boston Tech? Or the first look of surprise on the face of Dr. Davis J. Dewey, professor of Economics at the same institution, when, on his way to Berkeley where he is giving a course at the summer school, he stopped here to see Dr. Burton and found him up a step-ladder straightening the hangings of Mansur's harem.

Famous Sculptor at Work

Jo Mora has resumed work on a fountain piece for the patio of the Field home, one of the Spanish landmarks, in Monterey. To carry out the romance of early California, the fountain is entirely Spanish in thought and treatment. The men of the time, the Franciscan friar, the Pueblo man, the Soldier and the Ranchereo, are the characters in bas relief decorating the four panels on the pedestal, while the water spouts will be Indian heads. The material used for this and the coping will be of Caen stone. Crowding the shaft will be the figure, of Woman, in bronze, and contrary to conventionality in sculpture, this figure will be a Spanish senorita in the crinoline dress of the period.

Of particular interest is the fact that Miss Maria Antonia Field is posing for this figure and the crinoline dress she is wearing is one of the many heirlooms she possesses of the California Spanish regime.

For Every Room in Every Home

For all round the home, wall board is the quickest and easiest material to use when making walls or ceilings. It is the practical material because the result is so permanent.

There are many odd corners in your home that can be utilized by the application of wall board and converted into an extra sleeping room, a sewing room, a den or library.

We recommend either Duro Plaster Board or Cornell Wall Board-Prices on application.
